

1980 to 2024

Florida Presidential Elections: 1980-2024 Analysis

Comprehensive 44-year analysis of Florida voting patterns at state and county levels across 12 presidential elections.

Margin of Victory Trends:

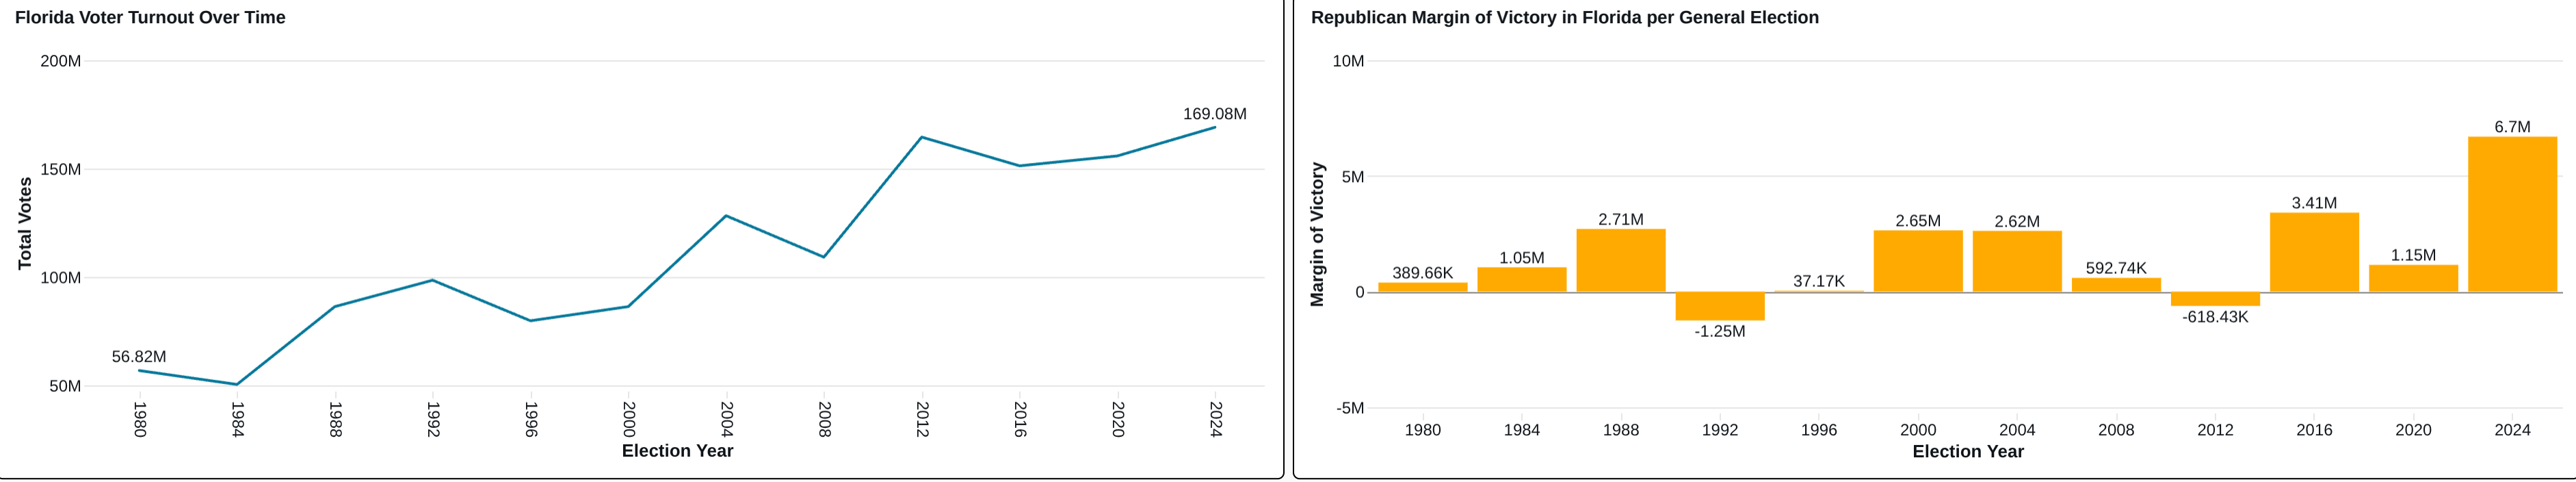

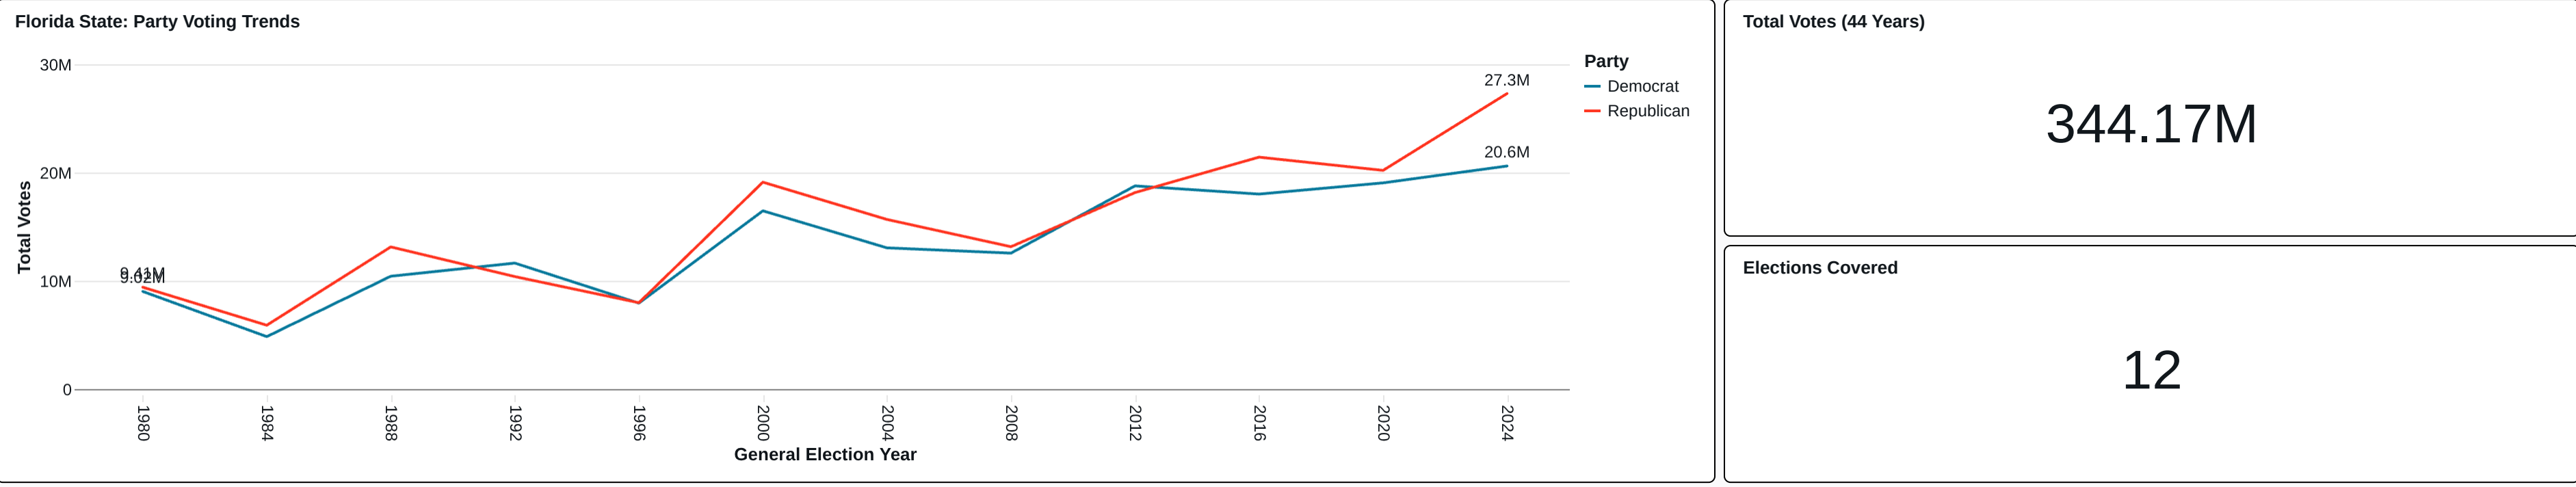

- Republicans dominated the 1980s with consistent margins
- 1992 saw a shift with Clinton's victory (first Democrat win since Carter)
- 2000-2008: Tight Republican margins, including the famous 2000 recount
- 2012: Brief Democratic victory (Obama)
- 2016-2020: Return to Republican advantage
- 2024: Boost of Republican margin

Voter Turnout Evolution:

- Steady growth from 1980s baseline (~4M total) to 2024 peak
- Significant increases in 1992 (Clinton effect) and 2008 (Obama effect)
- 2016-2024 showed highest overall engagement

Competitive Pattern:

Florida transformed from a reliable Republican state (1980s) to the ultimate swing state (1992-2024), with margins tightening and party control alternating.

Florida Detailed Margins
Search Election Year...
Election Year	Republican Votes	Democrat Votes	Margin of Victory
1980	9,409,156	9,019,494	389,662
1984	5,897,029	4,845,679	1,051,350
1988	13,131,657	10,423,120	2,708,537
1992	10,390,769	11,637,072	-1,246,303
1996	7,974,132	7,936,958	37,174
2000	19,112,207	16,465,910	2,646,297
2004	15,669,200	13,044,481	2,624,719

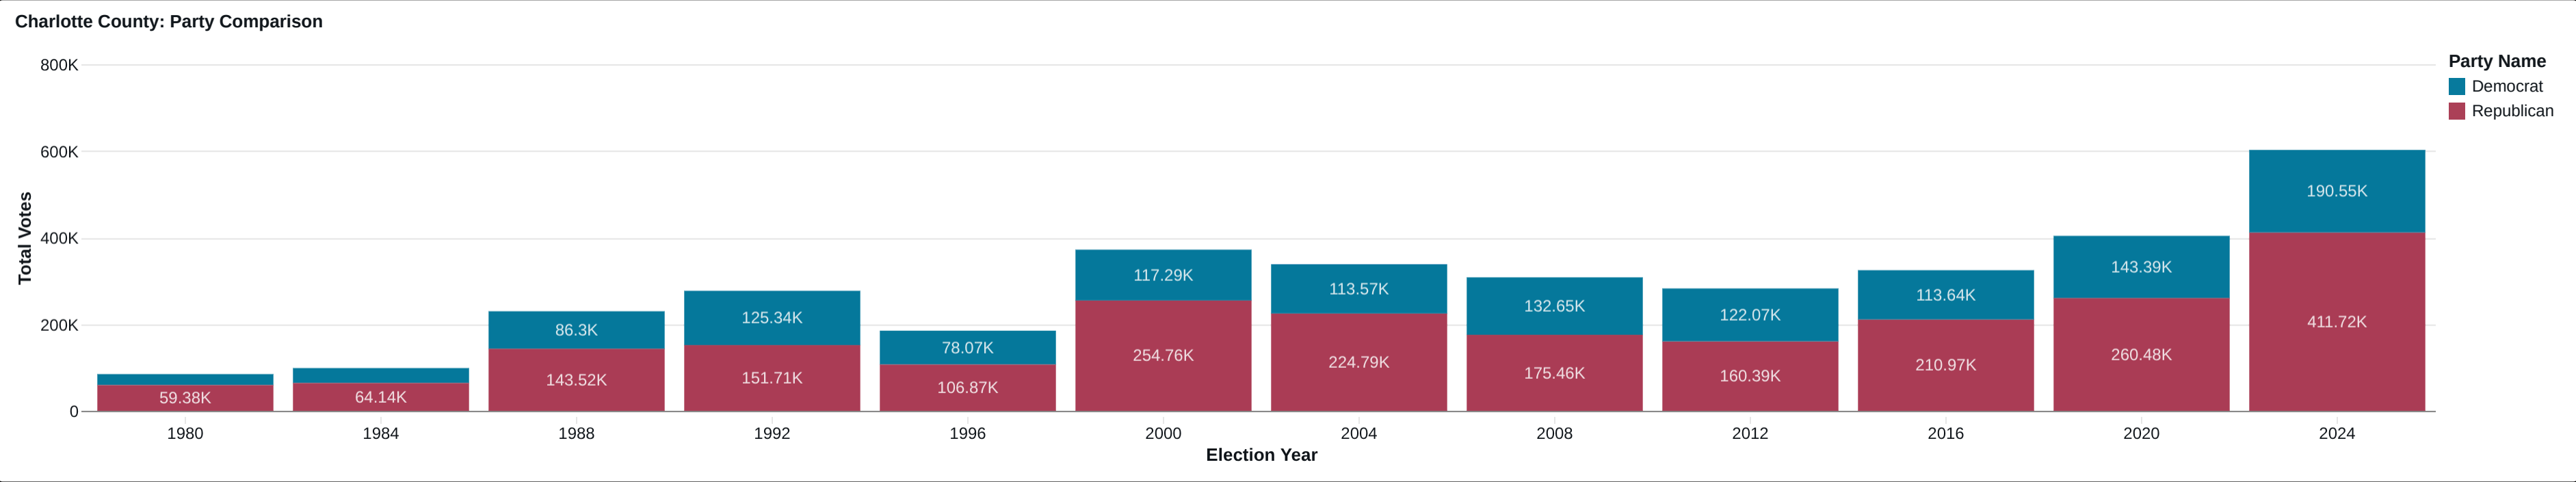

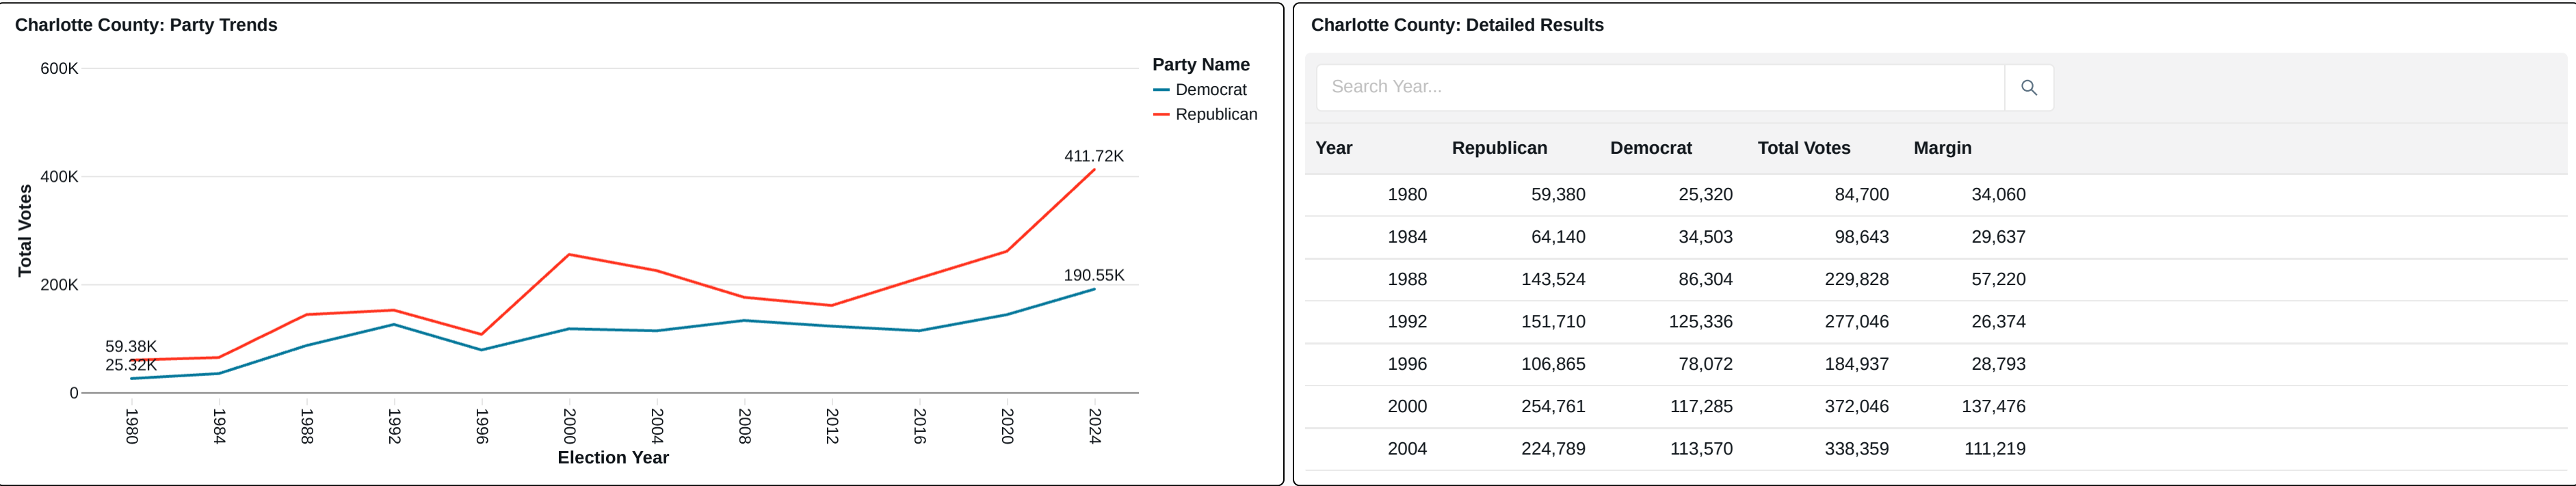

Charlotte County: 44-Year Voting Analysis (1980-2024)

Consistent Republican Stronghold: Republicans won all 12 elections with significant margins throughout the period.

Key Trends:

- 1980s Growth - Turnout doubled from 1984 (98K total) to 1988 (230K total)
- 1992 Most Competitive - Narrowest margin at +26,374 votes during Clinton's victory
- 2000 Largest Historical Margin - Republicans peaked with +137,476 vote advantage
- 2008-2012 Tightening - Margins narrowed to ~40K during Obama elections
- 2016-2020 Expansion - Republican margins grew again to over 100K
- 2024 Continuation - Latest results show continued Republican strength

Pattern: Charlotte County remained reliably Republican even as Florida became a swing state, though margins tightened during competitive national elections (1992, 2008, 2012) before expanding again in recent cycles.

Sarasota County: 44-Year Voting Analysis (1980-2024)

Republican-Leaning with Competitive Periods: Republicans won all 12 elections, but saw significant variations in margin strength.

Key Trends:

- 1980s Dominance - 1988 had the largest margin (+178,636) with 641K total votes
- 1992 Closest Race - Narrowest margin at just +20,681 votes (Clinton effect)
- 2000-2004 Resurgence - Massive Republican margins (+167K in 2000, +252K in 2004)
- 2008-2012 Competitive Era - Margins tightened to 46-70K during Obama years
- 2016-2020 Republican Rebound - Margins expanded again (+171K in 2016, +186K in 2020)
- 2020-2024 Continued Growth & Volatility - turnout begins to become volatile with latest election results

Pattern: Sarasota shows more volatility than Charlotte, swinging between landslides and competitive races. Higher population and turnout than Charlotte County throughout the period.

